THE STUDENTS OF WOFFORD COLLEGE AT SPARTANBURG SOUTH CAROLINA TAKE PLEASURE IN PRESENTING THE

HEMIAN

The BOHEMIAN of 1941 is an expression of life at Wofford. Full of activity, both scholastic and extracurricular, sober and exciting, student life moves on to a definite goal,—a college degree. • In the variety of interests and activities, the pages of this yearbook will emphasize how many things engage the attention of a student on the Wofford Campus in 1941. The simplicities of the older ways of student life have yielded to a complicated, many-colored pattern, and the great process called education is made up of more kinds of influence than ever before. • President Woodrow Wilson, when he was at Princeton, used to say that college life is not in the class room but outside on the campus. However, at Wofford, there is still life in the class room, and there will always be life as long as there are two minds really at work, the mind of a good teacher and the mind of a good student. In certain dormitory rooms, in the class rooms, in library and laboratory, there are eager minds questing as of old for the real truth of things. Yes, the flame of the spirit still burns with enduring brightness. • In presenting this printed and pictorial record, it has been our purpose to depict student life at Wofford College informally and vividly and to recreate for you incidents and associations which have made this school year a happy one.

"Tant qu'il y aura sur la terre ignorance et misère, des [édifices] de la nature de celui-ci pourront ne pas être inutiles"

THE MAIN BUILDING

GATEWAY TO WOFFORD CAMPUS

"Therefore, when we speak of ourselves as divided into Barbarians, Philistines, and Populace, we must be understood always to imply that within each of these classes there are a certain number of aliens, if we may so call them,—persons who are mainly led, not by their class spirit, but by a general humane spirit, by the love of human perfection and that this number is capable of being diminished or augmented."

"Have something the world wants and though you dwell in the midst of a forest, it will wear a beaten pathway to your door"

THRU THE VEAR

To the average incoming freshman, college life appears to be a welter of unorganized effort. He soon discovers, however, that many of its seemingly inchoate aspects are rather invaluable parts of the organized whole. Doubtless he will remember for years his first registration and first impressions of professors and the chapel. The field house reception will be the first of many more social events to come in his college career. He will have to work hard at times; but the college intersperses its schedule with holidays and entertainments. Such honors as come to him will round out his college year and make the work necessary to gain them seem lighter. • For the upperclassmen, this tortuous process of orientation is completed. They have a greater range of interests and a fund of experience to cope with their problems. Part of their duty is to instill in each class of freshmen the Wofford tradition. • The seniors especially have a comprehensive view of their college days. Throughout the year, they are looking backward at their associations and achievements, and forward to the day of graduation.

All sorts of boys, loafers and workers, recessive and co-operative, pour into the democratic matrix of dormitory life, usually to emerge as men conditioned in self-confidence and respect for the other fellow's rights. For many, life in the "dorm" is a first contact with self-reliance and the privileges and duties it enjoins. At Wofford, the dormitory is an integral part of student life.

"Your eyes' blue depths are lifted,
With love and friendship stirred.
They smile; and, lost in dreaming,
I cannot speak a word."

HAPPINESS

Recreation also claims its share of the student's time. Of course, many possibilities present themselves at once, but some activities are shared by nearly all Wofford men. Dating is ever popular, and students make frequent trips to any of the several nearby girls' schools. For the majority who are not members of a varsity athletic team, intramural sports are available. Spartanburg has several cultural and recreational attractions to offer; many Wofford men attend Converse art exhibits, Civic Music Association concerts, the County Fair, and town dances, and patronize the golf links and bowling alleys.

STUDENT ACTIVITY

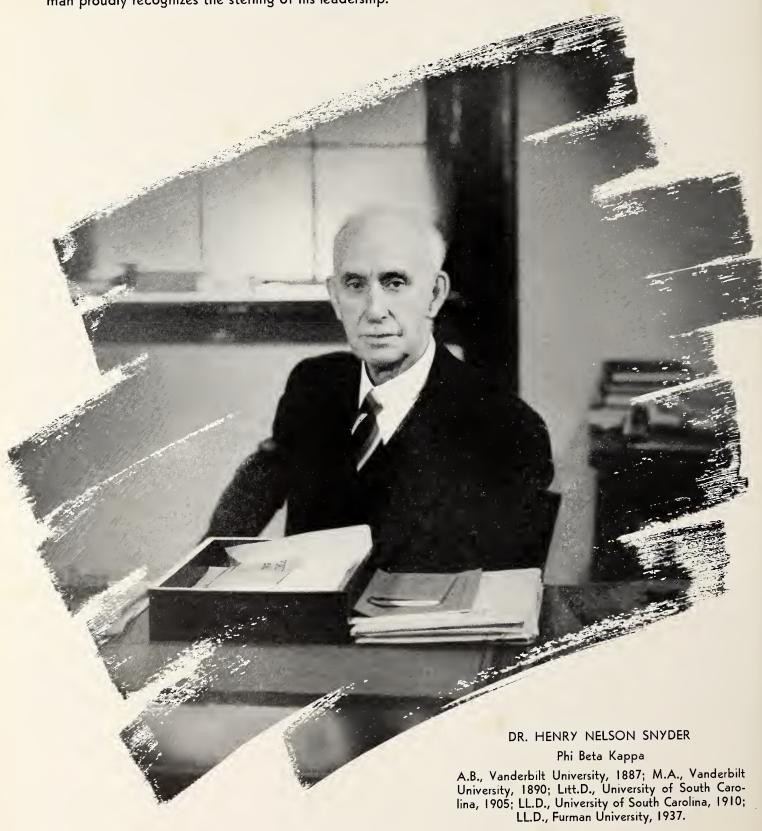

In pursuing courses of study, students participate in various activities. They can be found in the laboratory, in the class room, in the library, at the airport, and at any other number of important places.

PRESIDENT

Dr. Snyder has lived along with Wofford for half a century. His thirty-eight years in the presidency have resulted in high requirements for both professor and student in the class room, improvements in buildings and grounds, and renown for the college among scholarly men. Dr. Snyder's linguistic precision and spontaneous humor are generally relished, and every Wofford man proudly recognizes the sterling of his leadership.

DEAN LeROY H. COX

Dean Cox is no stranger to Wofford College. He graduated here in 1924, and after several years of graduate study and teaching, returned in 1939 as Alumni Secretary and Director of Public Relations, a position which he still retains. He was appointed Dean in 1940. His many connections with schools and colleges have well fitted him for the arduous duties of his office. His first term has been marked by his deep sense of responsibility and a capability for many different undertakings.

FORMER DEAN DUPRE

DEAN COX

DR. ARTHUR MASON DuPRE

It was with profound regret that the faculty and trustees of Wofford accepted the resignation of Dr. DuPre, who had served for twenty years as Dean of Wofford College.

He was graduated from Wofford in 1895 and received his M.A. in 1896. He also received the LL.D. degree from Furman University in 1933.

Dean DuPre had been consistently just, anxious to promote the students' welfare, and had embodied, during his term of office, the highest ideals of scholarship and service. He was the first dean in the history of the college, and established an admirable body of tradition for all future deans.

Since he entered Wofford fifty years ago as a freshman he has never lost his connection with the institution—first as headmaster of the fitting school, then as professor, and finally as dean.

Few Wofford men are more universally admired and respected.

Twenty-five members of the Wofford College Reserve Officers' Training Corps, while attending the six weeks' encampment at Fort McClellan, Alabama, won the proficiency cup in competition with twenty-eight colleges in the Fourth Corps Area sending infantry units to the camp. This marks the first time the Wofford unit has won the cup in competition with all military colleges in the South.

Ratings were based on activities of each cadet in each military unit during the six weeks' encampment. Points were given for excellence in conduct, field training, rifle firing, leadership, and other activities such as athletics.

TEACHING AND LEARNING AT WOFFORD

Recitations and classroom work take up the biggest single chunk of the student's time, except studying for classes. Here the age-old problem of English, history, and math are threshed out until the student has at least a toe-hold on the subject.

Professor Shuler shows his surveying students how to handle their instruments

Classes are a basic part of Wofford's educational system. Attendance is compulsory, as with most smaller colleges, but limited cuts are allowed.

Although classroom time is of necessity consumed in routine fashion, the student can find here the seeds of a vital intellectual growth and experience.

The Secretary and Chairman of the Publications Board, Dr. Stanbury and Professor Salmon, talk over some business before the meeting begins.

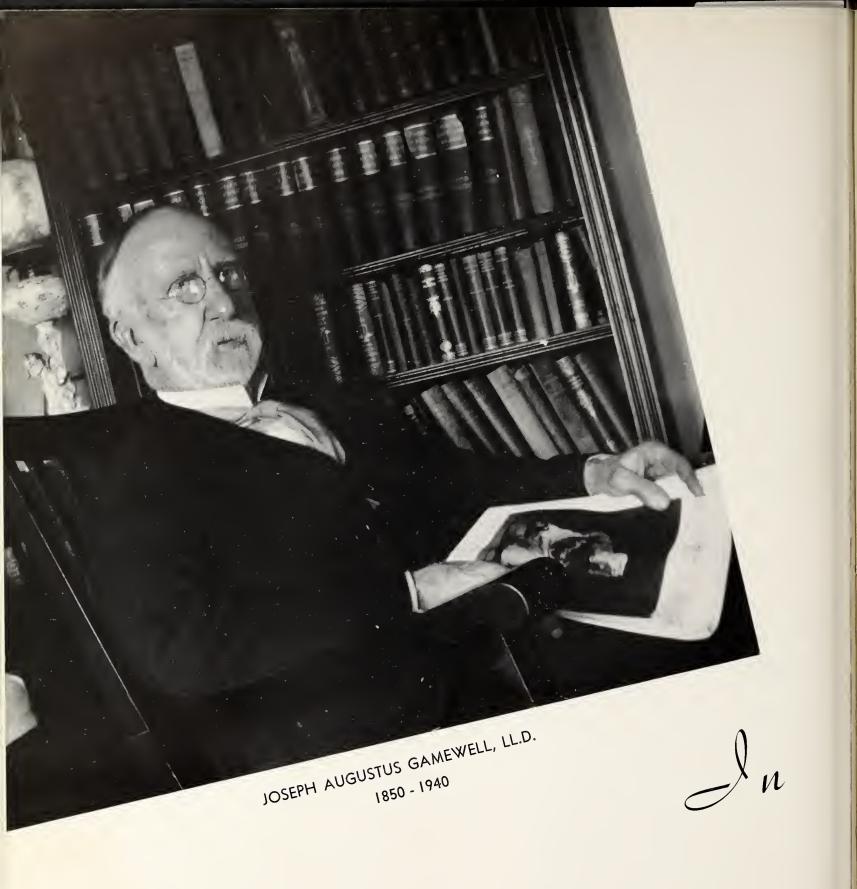

THE PUBLICATIONS BOARD

The Publications Board was formed in 1935-36 to control the finances of the student publications. Under its supervision, bills are paid promptly, collections are made regularly and thoroughly, and a complete accounting is provided for. The Old Gold and Black is issued twenty-eight times a year instead of twelve, and The Journal has an improved and more expensive format for its five issues. Last year The Bohemian had reduced its direct charges to the student body from around $2800 to some $1400 and nearly doubled the amount of photography and engraving in its pages. To these gains may be added a new enthusiasm and pride on the part of all staffs.

"And so across the centuries one hears the statement of the undying purpose of the kind of education to which the little colleges have dedicated themselves, and so long as men value the worth of the things of the spirit for the service of the common life, and so long as these colleges themselves keep faith, though under changed conditions, with the purposes that gave them birth, they need not accept anybody's good-bye as authentic and final."

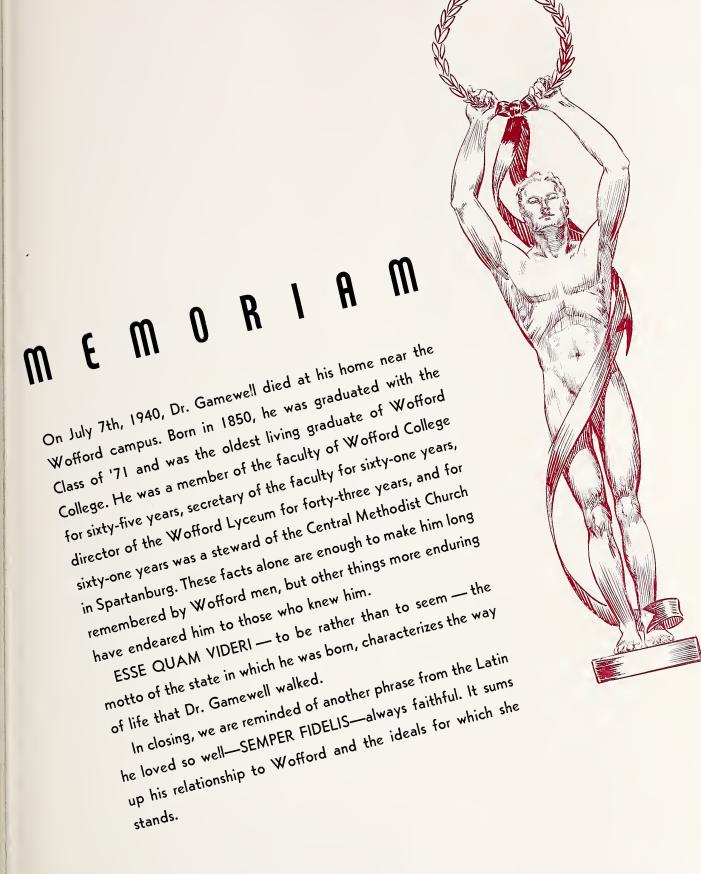

The Main Building

"Qui cum ex eo quaereretur, cur tam diu vellet esse in vita: 'Nihil habeo,' inquit, 'quod accusem senectutem.' "And when he was asked why he wished to live so long: "I have no reason," he said, "for finding fault with old age."

"Semper enim in his studiis laboribusque viventi non intellegitur quando obrepat senectus."

"Non cani nec rugae repente auctoritatem adripere possunt, sed honeste acta superior aetas fructus capit auctoritatis extremos."

Neither white hair nor lines on one's face can suddenly seize upon influence but, when the former part of life has been lived honorably, it reaps the fruits of influence at last.

INSTALLATION

January 14, 1941, marked a significant milestone in the history of Wofford College. A chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, to be known as the South Carolina Beta, was established with the presentation of the Wofford charter in formal ceremonies in the college chapel. Dean Marjorie Hope Nicholson of Smith College, President of the United Phi Beta Kappa Society, represented the national organization.

Dr. Henry Nelson Snyder was instrumental in securing this honor for Wofford, and many of the distinguished guests paid personal tribute to him. Twelve years of inspections, reports, and interviews were required before final action to grant the chapter was finally taken in the Phi Beta Kappa Council at San Francisco.

Charter members of the organization were those Wofford professors who had been given membership in other schools: Dr. H. N. Snyder, Dr. D. D. Wallace, Dr. Albert Stanbury, Dr. Olin B. Ader, and Dr. Herbert E. Vermillion. This nucleus elected thirty foundation members, among which were seven other faculty members, and the Chairman of the Board of Trustees: Dr. Coleman B. Waller, Dr. W. L. Pugh, Dr. J. A. Chiles, Prof. W. C. Herbert, Dr. A. M. DuPre, Dr. A. M. Trawick, Dr. J. G. Clinkscales, and Mr. Howard B. Carlisle.

OF PHI BETA KAPPA CHAPTER

Phi Beta Kappa is the only national honorary scholarship fraternity and claims business executives, public leaders, and statesmen as members. Requirements for membership are high, and students must be in the upper scholarship brackets of their class to qualify. Wofford's recognition is especially marked because only one other educational institution in South Carolina, the University, has a chapter. College officials justly regard this year and the beginnings of the chapter here as epochal in the story of Wofford's progress.

"Das ist im Leben haeszlich eingerichtet,
Dasz bei den Rosen gleich die Dornen stehn,
Und was das arme Herz auch sehnt und dichtet,

How badly is the course of life adjusted,
That where sweet roses bloom sharp thorns abound;
What though the heart has dearly, fondly trusted,
The hour of parting will at last come round.

AND THE WHO'S WHO BOYS.

"And if our hands should meet in another dream we shall build another tower in the sky."

Ten Wofford seniors were named to be included in the 1941 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities which came off the press in January.

Who's Who is published through the cooperation of over 500 American universities and colleges. It is the only means of national recognition devoid of politics, fees, and dues.

The purpose of Who's Who is to serve as an incentive for students to get the most out of their college careers; as a means of compensation to students for what they have already done; as a recommendation to the business world; and as a standard of measurement for students comparable to such agencies as Phi Beta Kappa and the Rhodes Scholarship Award.

SOLDIERY

LIEUTENANT COLONEL CHARLES C. LOUGHLIN . . . Infantry CAPTAIN WALTER C. GUY Infantry-Reserve

The primary mission of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps is to develop and train college students for positions of leadership in the Army of the United States in times of national emergency. One of such times is now upon us, and the R. O. T. C. system is daily furnishing the majority of the junior leaders for the vast army now being formed. The Wofford College unit has furnished, and will continue to furnish, its full quota of these young leaders. Having a hand in their selection and training is one of the most satisfying assignments an officer can obtain. Particularly satisfying has been the work of the class now being graduated, and of the work of the entire Wofford unit this past college year. Marked by enthusiasm, high morale, and efficiency the year has been the most successful of my four years at Wofford, and the most satisfactory in my eight years of this work. All connected with the unit are proud of its accomplishments—particularly proud of the yearly quota of capable reserve officers turned into the national pool of young military leaders.

CHARLES C. LOUGHLIN, Lieutenant Colonel, Infantry.

The BAND

The Military Band is composed of students who are interested in music and who can play band instruments with some degree of excellence. They are ably instructed and directed. This group is to be commended for its excellent work, and for the service rendered during the battalion parade of the year.

The RIFLE TEAM

The Rifle Team is made up of those men especially proficient in rifle marksmanship. The team takes part in inter-collegiate matches and has made an excellent record.

The members of this team are trained in a very efficient manner by Captain B. W. Rushton. Since Captain Rushton arrived on the Wofford Campus at the beginning of this school year, he has won the admiration of both students and professors.

"The study and practice of leadership in the military service are continuing and progressive activities for the individual who aspires to successful command of men in peace or war. Except for those inherent qualities of character which all of us possess to a greater or lesser degree, no one can expect to know initially or be able at once to follow the principles of leadership until he has made a study of history, an observation of others, and has finally, through his own experience developed a system of sound guides for leading men in the accomplishment of a common purpose."

The National Society of Scabbard and Blade was founded at the University of Wisconsin in 1904. Wofford received its chapter, "M" Company, 6th Regiment, in 1928.

The purpose of this society is to unite in closer relationships the military departments of American colleges and universities; to preserve and develop the essential qualities of good and efficient officers; to prepare the cadets as educated men to take a more active part in the military affairs of the communities in which they may live; and above all to spread intelligent information concerning the military requirements of our country.

In February the Scabbard and Blade sponsored a very successful military ball.

The duties of the Student Body officers command a great deal of leadership and character. Especially is this true of the president, for it is his duty to conduct student body meetings and to give consideration to all important issues which may arise among the students. He also presides over the meetings of the Student Council, and is executive in charge of all student body and class elections.

GOVERNING BODIES

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

The Wofford Student Council performs the usual functions of a college student council. Its membership is composed of J. A. White, President of the Student Body; Gilmer Cloer, President of the Honor System; T. Emmet Walsh, Vice-President of the Student Body; R. B. Burnett, Secretary of the Student Body; S. H. Wofford, Treasurer of the Student Body; R. M. Flynn, President of the Senior Class; W. L. Mills, Jr., President of the Junior Class; L. D. Bauknight, President of the Sophomore Class; and R. P. Epps, President of the Freshman Class.

THE PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL

The Pan-Hellenic Council of Wofford College is composed of the presidents and one additional member of the social fraternities on the campus. The presidency of the group rotates among the fraternities.

The Council has full control over inter-fraternity affairs. It designates the rushing season in the fall and has charge of pledge day. It also takes the lead in sponsoring inter-fraternity affairs.

JAMES ALLEN KNIGHT Editor-in-Chief of the 1941 Bohemian

The Bohemian of 1941 is vastly different from the yearbooks of the past several years. There are no divisions; the book is one complete unit—picturing life at Wofford as it is lived.

This year's Bohemian contains six kodachromes. Kodachrome pictures have never been used in a Wofford yearbook. Quotations taken from the world's greatest literature have been used from the beginning to the end.

Everyone connected with the Bohemian has given of his time freely in an effort to put out a worthwhile book. It is your book! Take it and enjoy it!

A WOFFORD RUB-LEATION

The Old Gold and Black is the newspaper of the Wofford student body and is published weekly throughout the year, except during examination and recess periods. The paper is usually a four-page weekly, but this year the staff succeeded in publishing two six-page special editions, one on Homecoming Day and the other on the Saturday before the installation of Wofford's chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

When the editor and business manager took over the duties of office they began immediately to formulate plans whereby The Old Gold and Black could be made a better and more readable college newspaper. Through the cooperation of the publishers, the editor-in-chief and the business manager succeeded in enlarging the news space of the paper by one-third.

The editorial staff endeavors to report all campus happenings accurately and to reflect student opinion through the editorial columns of The Old Gold and Black. There is no faculty censorship, but at times the sword of discipline has acted as a kind of censorship.

The Old Gold and Black and the college cooperate in the dispensing of important news.

THE JOURNAL

The Journal, Wofford's literary magazine, is completing its fifty-first year, having been first published in 1889. Continuing a policy begun last year, the magazine featured contributions by prominent alumni including the Hon. Daniel C. Roper, Dr. Robert A. Law, and Mr. R. Carlisle Folger.

For the second successive year, articles having appeared in The Journal won three first places at the South Carolina College Press Association Convention held at Furman University in November. All other publications in the state were outdistanced in this respect.

Attractive covers, illustrations, and streamlined make-up, combined with an interesting variety of short stories, poems, essays, editorials, interviews, sketches, and features make The Journal a highly readable publication, in keeping with the best literary standard.

SING

The Wofford College Glee Club, composed of fifty of the best student voices on the campus, is completing its sixteenth consecutive year under the direction of Professor Wilson P. Price. During the season it maintained its reputation as one of the outstanding choral organizations in the South.

ORCHESTRA

This year, all concerts presented in Spartanburg and vicinity were presented during the second term, the first term being devoted to intense rehearsal of a well balanced program. Thirty-five of the club's members made the annual tour of the state during the first week in April. A double quartet, orchestra, and a humorous skit added variety to the program which was well received wherever it was presented.

Bernard M. Cannon is the student director and V. Francis Platt, Jr., is the manager.

"Servant and master am I; servant of those dead, and master of those living. Through me spirits immortal speak, the message that makes the world weep, and laugh, and wonder, and worship. One I serve as I serve all; and the king I make my slave as easily as I subject his slave. I speak through the birds of the air, the insects of the field, the crash of waters on rock-ribbed shores, the sighing of wind in the trees. I know no brother, yet all men are my brothers. I am of them, and they are of me. I AM MUSIC."

The Carlisle Literary Society is one of the oldest of the campus organizations, having been founded in 1905.

The society participates in all the college's related fields such as Freshman Declamation, Sophomore Exhibition, and the Oratorical Contest. Stress is laid upon individual participation in programs. It is the aim of the society for each member to be a proficient speaker and at absolute ease on his feet.

The programs consist of essays, orations, debates, current events, and extemporaneous speeches.

"It is my living sentiment, and by the blessing of God it shall be my dying sentiment,— Independence now and Independence forever."

THE PRESTON LITERARY SOCIETY

"Beautiful things are hard to obtain"

The Preston Literary Society has faithfully served Wofford College as a training ground in public expression for more than eighty years. Many men who have received public recognition in the state and nation once graced the halls of the Preston Literary Society.

Since membership in literary societies was made voluntary by action of the faculty, the Preston, along with the other societies, has not had as active a membership as would be most desirable for a literary organization. It continues, however, in the face of difficulties, to give the students at Wofford a chance to express themselves in writing and in speech before a group. It affords the students an opportunity to develop and strengthen the powers of the mind.

All officers of the Preston are elected to serve for one term with a single exception; the exception being the treasurer who is elected to serve the entire school year. Annually the society selects two men to represent it at the annual Oratorical Contest, the Freshman Declamation, and the Sophomore Exhibition.

THE CALHOUN-SNYDER LITERARY SOCIETY

With the trend today definitely leaning toward public speaking and its allied arts, it is fitting that recognition should be given to the organizations which promote these things. The Calhoun-Snyder is one of the three campus organizations whose major emphasis is upon self-expression in the fields of public speaking, debating, and writing.

Interesting programs are planned and executed weekly with all of the members being given the opportunity to appear on the program several times each term.

The society participates in all of the college's related fields such as: Freshman Declamation, Sophomore Exhibition, and the Oratorical Contest. Much interest has been shown in the field of extra-curricula activities this year and much fine training has been given to the members of the society.

Debating provides an unparalleled opportunity for the student to practice quick thinking and concise expression while speaking before audiences. Because it furnishes such training, it has a vital place among campus activities. This year's team was chosen from the largest group of contestants to appear in many years, and the six men made an extended tour of colleges along the Southeastern seaboard up to Washington. The preliminary activities were mapped out by Hugo Sims, and Roy Richardson guided the team during its tour.

Through the Wofford Round Table the voice of the Wofford College student has been sent over the state every Tuesday afternoon during the past two school years. The Student Christian Association is the center of religious activities on the campus. Its aim is to keep the student in active contact with his individual church. The S. C. A. also attempts to give to the student a spiritual knowledge and benefit.

Every student is a member of the S. C. A., and the organization is supported by contributions of students in their activity fee.

Every Thursday evening at 7:15 a meeting is held for worship and study, and a varied program is presented.

The S. C. A. publishes a small book known as The Terrier Guide which presents college life and traditions to all new men.

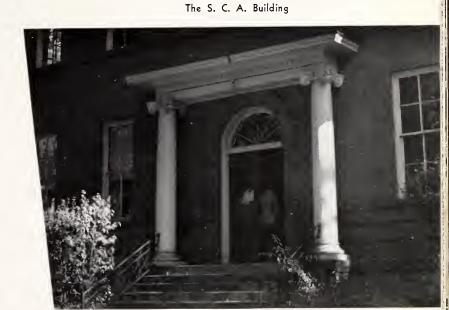

The S. C. A. sponsors the annual Religious Emphasis week held in February. The 1941 series was conducted by Rev. Paul Worley.

The S. C. A. tries to keep abreast of the religious movements in the colleges. Representatives are sent to all the religious conferences sponsored by the students of the state. Also representatives are sent to many regional conferences.

There are fourteen official members of the S. C. A. These fourteen, known as the S. C. A. Cabinet, transact all business that concerns the S. C. A. This year the organization sponsored a reception for the new students of Wofford and Converse Colleges, a banquet, and several other extracurricula activities.

Dr. A. M. Trawick is faculty adviser, and Dr. C. F. Nesbitt is director of religious activities.

One of the students in the Advanced Training Course of the C. A. A. and one of the training ships used in this course.

Offered this year for the second time during the regular school year is the Primary Training Course of the C. A. A. The purpose is to train pilots for possible military emergencies, as well as to build up a large group of Civilian Private Pilots. The primary course is concluded with the obtaining of a Private Pilot Certificate, and the completion of a ground-school training course.

Offered for the first time is the Advanced Training Course of the C. A. A., which has advanced flight maneuvers, acrobatics, and ground-schooling. The members of this course who wish to join one of the United States' Services are not required to attend the elimination schools of any branch, if they have completed the requirements satisfactorily.

THE WOFFORD LYCEUM

The Lyceum aims at providing informative and educational entertainment on the campus. It is supported by funds from the Student Activities Fee and by subscriptions from townspeople. Since 1898, when it was founded by the late Dr. Gamewell, it has brought to the campus figures of national importance in politics, foreign affairs, and the arts, and its contribution to the cultural life of Wofford College has been profound.

There have been four numbers in the Lyceum course this year: Mrs. Osa Johnson, scientific explorer, with her own films of wild life and native life in jungles all over the world; Henry C. Wolfe, foreign affairs expert, who lectured on German influences in South America; Carl Carmer, distinguished historian and expert in folk-lore and legend; and Henry W. Kamp, a classical scholar, who lectured on Greek and Roman civilization.

Since the death of Dr. Gamewell the management of the Lyceum has been in the hands of Dr. Albert Stanbury.

The purpose of the International Relations Club is to broaden the individual's knowledge of international affairs, and through a comprehensive study of current events, to acquaint the members with the manner in which foreign affairs affect our daily lives. At its bi-weekly meetings subjects of international import are treated in well planned programs. Frequently, visiting speakers address the group.

The local club was organized in 1922, being the second organization of its kind in the South. Maintenance of an average of ninety throughout the college course is one qualification for membership in the group. The high standards maintained makes membership a very desirable campus honor.

The local chapter sends representatives to the Southeast International Relations Club Conference each spring and to various other gatherings.

Each year the club places, for reference, in the Wofford Library selected books on international affairs.

HONORARY CHRISTIAN LEADERSHIP FRATERNITY

Sigma Tau Alpha is a honorary Christian leadership fraternity, founded at Wofford on November 18, 1937. Its primary aim is the development of Christian leadership through the rendering of Christian service.

The fraternity is divided into five departments—Worship, Deputation, Radio, Publicity, Music—each being headed by a departmental director who is a member of the President's Cabinet. This cabinet assigns each member to that department in which he is best suited to serve.

Membership is achieved only by invitation, based upon a creditable class standing, a record of worthy service, and recognition of potential ability. The Wofford Chapter, numerically, is about evenly divided between lay and ministerial students.

Briefly, the work of the Wofford Chapter consists of teaching in Church schools and missions, preaching, leading young people's groups and prayer meetings, sending deputation teams to neighboring cities, writing on religious subjects, rendering musical programs, and presenting weekly broadcasts over radio station WSPA in Spartanburg, S. C.

Monthly meetings of the chapter are held throughout the year for worship, business, and mutual encouragement.

Since 1927, Wofford's French fraternity has been a chapter of Beta Pi Theta, a national honorary organization. This year, the fraternity has withdrawn from the national bonds, and is organizing as a local group. The purpose of the club is to draw together honor students with special interest in the French I anguage and culture. The group holds regular monthly meetings, where phases of French development are discussed. Interest has grown in French plays, and the fraternity plans to present one or more such plays during the year.

Professor LeGrand Tennis is faculty adviser for the organization.

Wofford is nationally famous for having the Alpha Chapter of Delta Phi Alpha, the honorary German fraternity. The group, which was organized in 1929 by Dr. J. A. Chiles, has since spread to forty-one colleges and universities throughout the nation.

The Alpha Chapter centers its attention on historic phases of German life, culture, and development. The classic and romantic German authors are most generally studied.

Sigma Upsilon is the honorary English fraternity of the campus. The national organization was founded in 1906; Wofford's Canterbury Chapter began its work in 1926. Members are drawn from those students who have shown interest and ability in writing for the three Wofford publications.

This year, regular meetings were held to discuss the work of the Journal, the Old Gold and Black, and the Bohemian, and to offer constructive advice to the members of the three staffs.

"If you do consider well, you cannot choose but admire, and wonder at the powers of eloquence, for there is a strange hidden mystery in eloquence, it hath a magical power over mankind for it charms the senses, and enchants the mind, and is of such a commanding power, as it forces the will to command the actions of the body and the soul, to do, or to suffer, beyond their natural abilities, and make the souls of men the tongue's slaves."

THE GAVEL

The Gavel, honorary forensic fraternity, was founded in December, 1937, to replace the inactive chapter of Pi Kappa Delta. The charter members included the six varsity debaters and the winner of the oratorical contest the previous year. The group has steadily grown in influence and prestige since that time.

Membership standards are high, and the organization is composed only of those men who have proven themselves proficient public speakers and debaters.

The Wofford College Chapter of Pi Gamma Mu was founded November 1, 1939. The standards of the local group are very high and membership is the highest honor that can be bestowed upon a social science student at Wofford.

The purpose of Pi Gamma Mu is the inculcation of the ideals of scholarship, and social science in the study of all social problems. Pi Gamma Mu was organized not to oppose or advocate any particular social movement. It aims rather to instill in the mind of the individual a scientific attitude toward all social questions. Its particular purpose is to send out from colleges and universities young men and women imbued with social idealism, trained in scientific thought, and encouraged to help others to be scientific in their thinking on all social questions.

The motto of the Society is the famous epigram of the Master Teacher: "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

The Stratford Players is the dramatic organization of the Wofford campus. Its membership is composed of those students who are particularly interested in the study of drama and the production of plays. The group co-operated with the Palmetto Players of Converse College to produce several plays during the season. Each member participated in at least one of the productions.

Students are elected to the club upon recognition of their interest and ability in dramatics.

Formed in order to give to those students with a love for artistic and pictorial representation a chance to study, exercise, and display their work, the Art and Camera Club at Wofford is attempting to achieve these ends. This, the first year of its existence, has been a successful one with the members having guest artists of note to speak to them, advise them, and to criticize the members' exhibited works.

It is hoped that next year will be even more successful and of mutual benefit to both the college and to the club members in the pursuit of artistic endeavors.

The Baptist Student Union was organized on the Wofford Campus in 1938. Its purpose is to link the Baptist students up with the local churches and their unit organizations. It has always endeavored to the fullest degree to cooperate with the other religious organizations on the campus. A student does not join the Baptist Student Union, but automatically becomes a member when he joins a Training Union, Sunday School, or other unit organizations of a Baptist Church. The work is promoted by a Baptist Student Union Council which is elected annually.

In addition to its local activity, the Wofford Council has gained recognition in the State Baptist Student Union Organization. A. T. Greene, Jr., Wofford B. S. U. President, has served for the past year as State Vice-President in charge of devotional work over the state. For the ensuing year, the Ezell Twins, will serve as Ridgecrest Representatives for the state work.

Wofford has also joined hands with Converse and Textile in the formation of the Spartanburg Tri-Council B. S. U. Council.

THE BLOCK "W" CLUB

Membership in the Block "W" Club is rightly considered a signal honor on the Wofford campus. The winners of two blocks in one or more major sports are eligible for membership. Football, basketball, track, and baseball are major sports at Wofford. The organization is strictly an honorary one. It is not required to have regular meetings, but they may be called at the discretion of the members. The club is by nature and organization virtually inactive, but if the need should arise it could easily be one of the most potent groups on the campus.

Delta Sigma Phi was founded at the College of the City of New York on December 10, 1899. Psi Chapter was installed at Wofford on April 17, 1916. The Delta Sigs have many alumni in the city who cooperate with them in the execution of their social functions and other activities.

The fraternity is fortunate in having as director of its social life here in the city, Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Wilson. Each Tuesday night after the meeting the boys go out to "Mom's and Doc's" for social entertainment, usually a wiener roast, hay ride, banquet, smoker, or dance in the home of an alumnus.

This year an annual Founder's Day Banquet was held on December 10 at the Cleveland Hotel.

Each year the alumni of Spartanburg sponsor a Sailor's Ball for the boys.

Kappa Alpha Order was founded at Washington College (now Washington and Lee University) on December 21, 1865, with Robert E. Lee as the spiritual founder. Delta Chapter was founded at Wofford on February 23, 1869.

This chapter has more alumni living in the city than any other fraternity on the campus, which is a valuable asset, for it insures cooperation in many of the undertakings of the fraternity.

The Order suffered a great loss in the death of Dr. Joseph Augustus Gamewell, who up to the time of his death was the oldest active college professor in the United States as well as the oldest member of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity. The group is represented on the faculty by Dr. A. M. DuPre, Dr. D. D. Wallace, and Professor LeGrand Tennis.

Social functions are held regularly throughout the year and play an important part in the fraternity's activities. Among these are the Robert E. Lee Banquet held on January 19 and the annual Farmers' Ball which is given by the Spartanburg Alumni Chapter in April. The chapter is planning to have a house party at one of the beaches this summer.

The traditional founding of the Kappa Sigma Fraternity dates back to the year 1400, when a group of students at the University of Bologna united for protection against the wicked ruler, Pope John XXIII. The first American chapter was organized at the University of Virginia on December 10, 1869, and the chapter at Wofford in 1894.

Since 1869, Kappa Sigma has spread to III leading colleges and universities throughout the United States and Canada. Kappa Sigma owns houses valued at approximately $3,000,000. An endowment fund of nearly half a million dollars is used as a loan fund for Kappa Sigma students who need help in order to complete their education. Kappa Sigma is one of only two fraternities to publish a magazine for its members monthly during the college year, and issues to each initiate a life subscription.

Lambda Chi Alpha was founded at Boston University on October I, 1909. Lambda Chi Alpha stands third among national fraternities with 107 chapters. Its position was strengthened when it amalgamated with Theta Kappa Nu, another strong national fraternity, late in the summer of 1939.

Kappa Omicron-Zeta chapter was established at Wofford on May 15, 1926. The fraternity occupies comfortable quarters above Boyd's Dress Shop on East Main Street. The hall is modernly equipped and provides an ideal meeting place for informal social life of the members.

The outstanding social event of the year was the traditional annual spring formal.

Tentative plans have already been made for a house party to be held at one of South Carolina's beaches this summer.

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity was founded on March 9, 1856, at the University of Alabama, in the old city of Tuscaloosa. Eight students who had become hard and fast friends were the founders of this brotherly society, which was destined to extend to the furthermost limits of the country. South Carolina Gamma Chapter was founded in 1885 at Wofford College.

In January 1941, of the 114 active chapters collegiate, located in 44 states, 94 chapters owned houses with a combined valuation of over three million dollars. Total initiates numbered over 51,000. In the Levere Memorial Temple is housed the National Office of the fraternity. The temple is an imposing structure located at Evanston, Illinois, on the shores of Lake Michigan, and is the only fraternity-owned building of its kind.

Each year South Carolina Gamma chapter celebrates Founder's Day with a banquet. The members and pledges of this chapter spend a week together every summer at their annual house party.

THE OUT

1941. Tuesday, January 14. A cool, cloudy night, partly veiling round moon just one day on the wane. Inside the Wofford chapel the President of the University of Florida, Dr. John J. Tigert, is speaking; he has bared his head in tribute to Dr. Snyder. Then the principal speaker, Dean Marjorie Hope Nicholson, asserts the principles of a liberal arts education, and presents a Phi Beta Kappa charter to Dr. Snyder. Phi Beta Kappa has come to Wofford.

Presentation of the Phi Beta Kappa Charter

Mrs. Osa Johnson

The Lyceum is an important part of Wofford's educational program, and is in its forty-third year as the main link between the college and celebrities of the outside world. This year, under the able leadership of Dr. Albert Stanbury, the following speakers came to Wofford: Osa Johnson, world famous explorer, Henry C. Wolfe, foreign affairs expert, and Carl Carmer, author of Stars Fell on Alabama.

STANDING EVENTS

This year, Wofford's annual homecoming was devoted to Dr. H. N. Snyder to honor him for fifty years of service to the college. Alumni from several states munched a dinner in the field house, heard Orphanage Head W. D. Roberts laud Dr. Snyder as "one of the nation's leading men of letters and greatest educators," assembled outside the Snyder home to present an engraved silver service to their President, then saw the Terriers whip the Erskine Seceders.

Youngest, most student-minded minister to speak during Religious Emphasis Week in many years was Paul Worley, pastor of First Methodist Church, Marion, Virginia, and former Director of The Youth Crusade, who preached morning and evening for a week here. Attendance was good and students and faculty members were well satisfied with the results.

Homecoming (Snyder) Day

Rev. Paul Worley in College Chapel

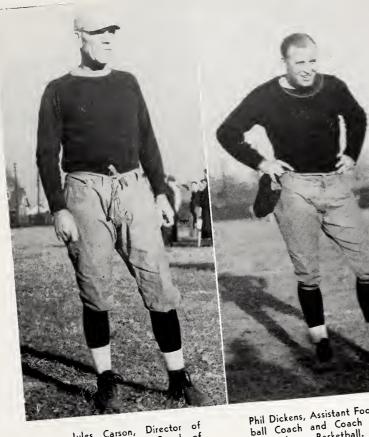

"I said to a man who stood at the gate of the years, 'Give me a light, that I may tread safely into the unknown,' and he replied, 'Go out into the darkness and put your hand into the hand of God. That shall be to you better than a light and safer than a known way.' "

1940 . . . A winning leason?—No . . . A vastly improved season?—Definitely yes! . . . Three victories, four defeats, two ties . . . Taggart and Faust placed on second team All-State . . .

With material coming in through the new athletic set-up, Terrier Mentors Jules Carson and Phil Dickens succeeded in turning out a team that rose to the heights at the season's beginning, only to falter in the home stretch and lose three straight because of injuries and a decided slump.

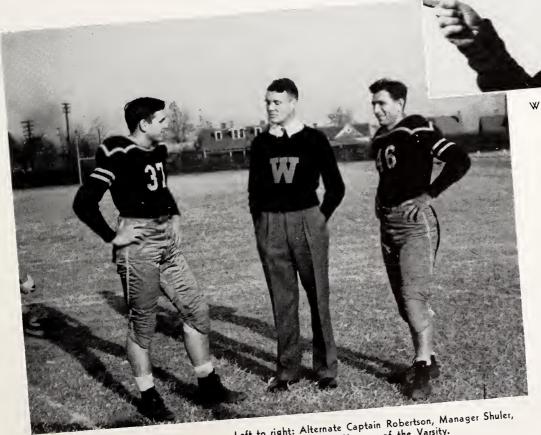

Jules Carson, Director of Athletics. Head Coach of Football and Track.

On the afternoon before the Thanksgiving game.

OUR LEADERS

Captain Yongue of the Varsity.

W. A. Dotherow, Freshman Football Coach.

WOFFORD 0-HIGH POINT 0

The Terriers played their first game away from home and expected an easy victory over High Point College.

Two 150-pounders, Jack Taggart and Everett Moody, sparkled the Terrier play with fine passing and running. Soph. Moody was a consistent gainer with runs 11, 10, 15, 19, and 24 yards.

WOFFORD 0—CLEMSON 26

Again away from home, Wofford staged a gallant scrap before going down before mighty Clemson's superior reserve strength. The Terriers held the Tiger team to only one touchdown during the final half.

Wofford made her strongest bid early in the first quarter when the Terriers marched from 24 to Clemson's 27 on the accurate passing of Taggart and the catching of Faust and Captain Aus Yongue.

Taggart's 37-yard run reaches pay dirt against Erskine.

Taggart starred for Wofford, completing 9 of 11 passes he threw, one of them a sure-fire touchdown had it not been dropped, for a clear field was ahead of the receiver.

WOFFORD 26—OGLETHORPE 14

At Atlanta story-book finish gave Wofford her first victory in the rowdiest game of the season. It was pass, pass, pass for this win.

Oglethorpe led 14-13 in the last few minutes, but Wofford scored on a 65-yard drive which included a 26-yard jaunt by Taggart. Taggart put the game on ice when he intercepted a Petrel desperation pass in the waning minutes and scampered 33 yards for the final score.

Taggart scored two markers and set the stage for the remaining two by little Jimmy Hilton. Moody also turned in a swell ball game.

WOFFORD 27-ERSKINE 0

Homecoming Day saw a large crowd out to witness the Terriers' first home game, a smashing revenge for the 6-0 upset scored by Erskine in 1939.

Hilton tipped off the outcome of the game when he pulled in an Erskine punt in the first minute, raced 70 yards for the opening tally, and calmly proceeded to boot the extra point. Taggart scored in the third quarter on a 37-yard run, and big "Cat" Mabry added the third marker later in that period with a plunge from the 5-yard line. Late in the last stanza Taggart faked a punt and ran 31 yards to the Fleet's 15, where he scored on the next play on a shifty end run.

F O O T B A L L

WOFFORD 19-RANDOLPH-MACON 0

Hitting the road again, an air-minded team paced by Moody spoiled Randolph-Macon's Homecoming Day by filling the air with throws that counted.

Wofford struck early in the second quarter with a pass to Sikish, again in the opening minutes of the second half with a forward lateral, Moody to Howle to Hilton, and finally on a pass to Faust in the third period. Moody passed for all three scores.

WOFFORD 2-CITADEL 7

This one was staged at Orangeburg and was one of the best and closest-played of the season. Captain Yongue put Wofford in the lead in the first few minutes by blocking a Cadet punt and causing it to soar over the end zone for an automatic safety, but the Bulldogs struck back late in the second quarter with a touchdown pass.

The Terriers muffed several opportunities to score by bogging down after carrying the ball within the 20-yard stripe. Deluged by rain in the fourth quarter, the Terrier deception attack had little chance to function in the rain, and what might have been, wasn't.

WOFFORD 7-STETSON 7

Wofford was lucky to get out of her second home game with a tie. The Terriers dominated the first quarter and part of the second but from there on it was all Stetson.

Moody's short pass to A. C. Moore in the first quarter scored for Wofford, and Moore kicked the extra point.

A 35-yard pass set the stage for Stetson's score shortly before the half ended.

WOFFORD 6-P. C. 12

The experts conceded that this game was a toss-up, and so it was. Little Jimmy Hilton started things with a bang in the opening three minutes when he snagged a P. C. punt and swivel-hipped his way 80 yards for Wofford's lone score.

Faust and Hilton played the best defensive ball for Wofford, while Mabry and Taggart again combined their kicking talent to stave off P. C. threats.

WOFFORD 6-NEWBERRY 46

The less said about this the better. Playing at Spartanburg on Thanksgiving Day, the Indians had it, Wofford didn't, and no alibis are in order for the loss.

Wofford tallied her only touchdown when Jimmy Hilton slipped off on a left end run and slid through most of the Indian team, including Little All-American Collangelo at safety, in a 47-yard gallop to pay-dirt.

This game rang down the curtain for nine Wofford gridders. Yongue, Mabry, Cloer, Taggart, Williamson, Maness, Howle, and Wofford all said good-bye to Terrier football with fighting performances on the gridiron.

After the season closed, the title of "Most Valuable Player" was awarded to Alternate Captain Joe Robertson, 182-pound center from Greer; and the title of "Best Blocker" to Newton Howle, 180-pound quarterback from Darlington.

At a meeting of the Athletic Advisory Board letters were awarded to the following men: James Hilton, Everett Moody, Tony Sikish, Aubrey Faust, Melvin Gibbs, Milton Maness, Ed Robinson, Newton Howle, Joe Robertson, Bud Burnett, Clarence Mabry, Gilmer Cloer, George Nicholson, Wilbur Stevens, A. C. Moore, Aus Yongue, Sam Wofford, Warden King, Tom Martin, Jack Taggart, Buell Fitzgerald.

WOFFORD FROSH

In spite of spending most of their time learning varsity opponets' plays to scrimmage against the Terriers, the Freshman team still found time to win 3 out of 5 games played last season.

The Pups lost to Mars Hill 25-7, after leading 7-6 at the half. Epps scored for Wofford.

The frosh evened things up by defeating Davidson freshmen at Spartanburg. Fickling's blocked punt for a safety and Epp's 80-yard punt return gave Wofford the margin of victory.

Next the Pups, playing their first night game at Florence, lost 28-12 to P. C.'s frosh aggregation. Epps again got the nod as the field's outstanding player, passing to Grimsley and to Littlejohn for Wofford's scores.

Again things were placed on an even keel when the Pups downed Erskine at Due West 18-7. Pluging 183-pound Fickling, Epps, and C. Brown led the Pups in their win.

And finally the Pups took the measure of Spartanburg High School 33-0. The Pup's defense held the Crimson Tide powerless except for one advance over the midfield stripe. Epps and Fickling each scored two touchdowns, with Price and G. Brown accounting for the other two.

Boisterous and prophetic shirt tail parade!

In the S. I. A. A. competition Wofford held the state's best record, but the Terriers were unable to enter the tournament due to exams at that time.

Paced by veterans John Shuler, "Pep" Coan, Ralph "Flipper" Flynn, and Ed Clark, seniors, and Aubrey Faust, sophomore, the Terriers gave the fans more than their money's worth for the 1941 season with some of the smoothest hoop trickery seen at Wofford in recent years.

There won't be another team possessing in such abundance those qualities known as showmanship, teamwork, and spirit in quite a few years. Our hat's off to the 1941 squad!

-BOB PURDY

Beginning the year under Coach Roy Robertson, switching to Doug Cannon when Robertson enlisted in the Army air service, and finally closing the season under Phill Dickens when Cannon was called to duty as a reserve officer in the Army, Wofford's Terriers nevertheless managed to win 12 of 19 intercollegiate basketball games played in 1941.

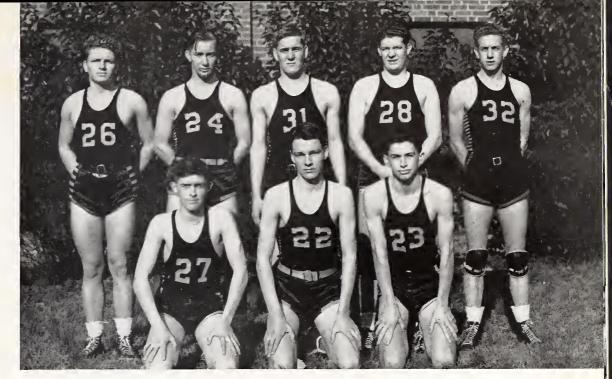

After dropping the first three state games played early in the season, the Terriers came back strong to win the remaining nine and take second place behind the University of South Carolina in the state basketball race.

TENNIS

Tennis is a sport engaged in by a large number of the Wofford students. The Terriers, with an inevitably good team, always end up their schedule well up on the win column, and at the time of this writing, this year's team looks to be no exception. The schedule is incomplete as this goes to press.

From early in the fall with the advent of touch football through the year with basketball, volleyball, and ending with softball in the spring, Wofford men who are unable to participate in varsity sports for one reason or another vie in hot intramural races keeping an eye shaded in the direction of the symbol of supremacy.

Every season the competition becomes stiffer. Touch football assumes the aspect of the real thing at times. Basketball puts a high premium on practice and teamwork. Volleyball calls out the best of the non-varsity crop. Softball furnishes a taper-off prior to the end of classes.

Thus with a varied program of intramural activities, Wofford offers the chance of participation in sports to all students who cannot make the varsity or who for lack of time are unable to play on varsity teams. A feeling of fraternity, good sportsmanship, and friendly rivalry is created through this directed program.

TRACK AT WOFFORD

As Wofford's 1941 cinder season begins, prospects for a winning track team can hardly be called better than mediocre. The Terrier tracksters will be weak in the hurdles, high jump, and broad jump, and several other events will have only one Wofford man entered.

Nine members of the 1940 squad returned this year. Preston Hardy, John Ballenger, Hugo Sims, and Captain Dean Hartley give Wofford a strong experienced combination in the distance events: Walter Sammeth and Jimmy Hilton seem to be the best men in the sprints; Fred Gillespie is the only veteran and as yet the only man entered in the hurdles; Aus Yongue the only veteran in the weight division; and DeWitt Guilds is the sole letterman in the pole vault.

While three members of the 1940 freshman squad and a number of inexperienced men strengthen the squad roster, it appears that on the flying spikes of the men above rest Wofford's hopes for a successful track season.

-BOB PURDY.

Standing: Reid Patrick, C. Y. Abernathy, J. W. Ballenger, H. B. Rainville, David Evans, Dean Hartley, James Pruitt, Hugo Sims, Preston Hardy. . . . Seated: Ed Sims, R. R. Terrell, John Williams, Charlie Hicks, Driftwood Rucker, Jack Taggart, E. A. Bradley.

Twenty-two men reported for Wofford baseball practice on the opening day, some with high school experience and a few with junior college baseball behind them, but among these candidates were only four lettermen from the 1940 squad.

First base is in capable hands with portsider Ed Clark taking care of that spot; Joe Robertson is counted on as regular catcher; Milt Maness will be back in the outfield; but Hugh Lark is the only veteran hurler back and prospects for other competent pitchers are dim as this goes to press.

Building around these lettermen—Clark, Robertson, Maness, and Lark—Coach Phil Dickens expects to have a team amply studded with rookies ready for the opening game. We're not expecting too much, however, and are looking forward hopefully to the miracle that will enable Coach Dickens to conjure something from nothing and assemble a representative team from the green material now out.
